

From Will Daniels:

As promised, I have compiled a short bibliography to be included on the S/A Project web page. They include just a “few” of the works that I have used as part of my research and presentations over the past 20 years. They will serve as a good foundation for middle/high school students and teachers wishing to learn more about Africa’s (including west Africa) role in civilization and promote a greater understanding of the continent’s and world’s current condition. All of the books below can be accessed through Barnes & Noble.
